Hy-Vee is happy to redeem your coupons. The following guidelines apply when presenting manufacturers' coupons clipped from newspapers or magazines, received by mail, or obtained legitimately from the Internet:

- The coupon must be legible.
- The coupon must have a scannable bar code (UPC) and a remittable manufacturer's address.
- Coupons with an expiration date must be used within the stated time frame. Expired coupons will not be accepted.
- Only one manufacturer coupon per item will be accepted; however, a customer may use a manufacturer's coupon in combination with a Hy-Vee coupon on the same item.
- Coupon values that exceed the price of the item will not be accepted.
- Soft drink container caps will be accepted.

Due to the unfortunate rise of counterfeit activity, the following two additional guidelines apply to Internet coupons:

- Manufacturer coupons that involve any kind of free product will not be accepted, including "buy one, get one free" offers.
- No coupon that exceeds $2.50 will be accepted.
